CITIZENS WARMLY WELCOME PREMIER McBRIDE

Emphatic Expression of Approval of Course Pursued by British Columbia's Representative at Inter-Provincial Conference--At Rousing Meeting at the A. O. U. W. Hall, Premier Explains His Position

A STATESMANLIKE UTTERANCE

"Now, let me say again—the general opinion of all the local prime ministers, and of the federal prime minister, was that we were entitled to special recognition. I at once (in line with what has been all along contended for by the different local administrations that have taken up this question of better terms) insisted upon anything that might be done being done through the agency of a board of arbitrators. I said that those who were most expert, who were best able to judge, had concluded that the only way that the interests of British Columbia might be conserved and justice done all parties concerned would be by proper reference of this question to a board of arbitrators—this board to consist of one arbitrator selected from the local, one from the federal and one from the Imperial governments. So that you see they would have a most representative body indeed, and certainly men in whom you should be able to place every confidence and trust; men who could come right here on the spot and study the conditions and see for themselves what we have to cope with.

"Now, when these gentlemen were good enough to say that they believed we were entitled to special recognition, and there was absolutely no question as to the justice of our claims, what fairer proposal could be made to that conference of local and federal prime ministers than that which I made, and which embodied a reference to arbitration of our claims?"—Premier McBride, at last evening's meeting.

IN a most emphatic manner the citizens of Victoria, last evening, demonstrated their approval of the course pursued by Hon. Richard McBride at the late conference of provincial premiers at Ottawa—a large concourse composed of all classes in the community, irrespective of party allegiance, meeting him on arrival of the Charmer from the mainland, escorting him to the A. O. U. W. hall, and applauding him to the echo as he gave an account of his stewardship.

There have been few occasions in the history of British Columbia when there has been such unanimity of feeling in respect to a great public question as was evident last evening. Though it was only a few days ago that the suggestion was advanced that it would be appropriate to accord the returning premier some manifestation of approval of his course at Ottawa, the response on the part of the public was as spontaneous as it was universal. Though the boat on which the premier arrived got in at an earlier hour than was generally expected, there was a thoroughly representative gathering at the wharf to meet him; and as the procession wound its way to the A. O. U. W. hall the premier was greeted with cheers from the crowds which lined the route of procession.

The hall was speedily packed to the doors by an audience which in its personnel was one of the best ever gathered at a political meeting in Victoria, and cheer upon cheer greeted the premier as he took his seat upon the platform. He spoke for a little over one hour, and during the entire time not one dissenting voice was heard as to the state of his position.

That his course at Ottawa was an honorable one, that he acted in the best interests of the province, and that he took the only consistent course open to him in refusing the proffered offer of better terms was the emphatic opinion of all present, and the meeting constituted a veritable triumph in its unmistakable contradiction of the charges of incompetency and neglect of duty preferred against the premier.

The Reception

The Charmer, bearing the premier and Hon. R. G. Tatlow, who had gone to Vancouver to meet him, arrived about 7:15, to the wharf to give him a welcome. Immediately the whistle of the steamer was heard the Fifth Regiment band left Government street for the wharf, accompanied by a large contingent of torch bearers, which greatly increased the number who were already gathered at the dock. Among those present were Hon. F. G. Fulton, L. W. Shatford, M. P. P. for Similkameen; H. B. Thomson, George Jay, Hon. E. Dewdney, D. M. Eberts, K. C., Trustees McKeown, Lewis and Riddell, A. W. Cashmore, H. Bishop, ex-Mayor Barnard, H. J. Robertson, J. L. Beckwith, W. C. Greshy, J. E. Phillips, H. Maynard, J. W. Bolden and A. M. Cookson.

The majority of the passengers had left the steamer before Hon. F. G. Fulton and the officers of the Conservative Association went on board to greet their returning leader. After a short wait the figure of the premier appeared coming down the gangway, and this was the signal for loud cheers, while the band struck up "The Maple Leaf Forever."

In waiting were a number of carriages which had been engaged for the occasion, the one set aside for Premier McBride being draped with the British flag. As he stepped into the carriage he was again greeted with cheers. The procession was then formed, and with the band leading, a start was made for the A. O. U. W. hall.

In the carriage with the premier were Hon. R. G. Tatlow, Hon. F. G. Fulton and D. M. Eberts, K. C.; in the second carriage were L. W. Shatford, M. P. P., J. L. Beckwith, H. Bishop and George Jay; the remainder of the conveyances being filled with other prominent Conservatives.

Turning on to Government street, a brilliant sight was presented, with the electrical illuminations across the thoroughfare. At intervals along the route red fire was displayed and the throngs that lined the sidewalks greeted the returning premier with cheers.

The procession proceeded along Government street to Yates street and thence to the hall, where another ovation awaited the premier as he stepped from the carriage.

The hall was fairly well filled before the party arrived, and when Premier McBride walked up the aisle with Mr. Beckwith he was repeatedly cheered.

After a short interval, during which the hall rapidly filled up, till every seat was taken, J. L. Beckwith took the chair; on his right being Premier McBride and on his left Hon. R. G. Tatlow and Hon. F. G. Fulton. Also on the platform were H. F. Bishop, H. J. Robertson, K. C., George Jay, ex-Mayor Barnard, H. J. Robertson, J. Brown, A. M. Cookson, H. B. Thomson, A. Sproule and A. W. Cashmore.

The Chairman

Mr. Beckwith in his opening remarks said the purpose of the meeting was to present an address to their distinguished Premier, Hon. R. McBride. (Applause.) It was well known that he had worthily upheld the rights of the province. There had been much said about "better terms," and it was well known that British Columbia was not treated the same as the other provinces, and they had a "good kick" coming. When they sent the premier to Ottawa it was well known that he went with a good amount of money, and had shown that their hopes were not misplaced. There was not a man in the conference who did not admit that British Columbia had not received her due, and in his opinion 75 per cent. of the Liberals of British Columbia would acknowledge the fact, if they had the backbone to admit it.

The fact that British Columbia was in need of better treatment was asserted by Hon. William Templeman, but he was told to sit down and has never said anything since.

If British Columbia had been represented when confederation was accomplished by Mr. McBride there would be no cause for a cry of "better terms." It was very seldom that a premier of British Columbia had gone to Ottawa under the same conditions as Premier McBride; and it was all honor to him that he had stood on his rights.

The Reception

The chairman then presented the following address:

To the Honorable Richard McBride, K.C., Premier of British Columbia:

Sir—We approach you this evening on your return from attending the inter-provincial conference at Ottawa, to bid you good night—his hundred thousand welcomes—and to express in some slight degree the pride and gratification we feel in having had you our representative at that historic gathering, for so strongly were you possessed of the courage of your convictions, so firmly convinced of the justice of your cause, that the most specious arguments and alluring promises failed to lead you from your path of duty. As Conservatives, we welcome you as our leader and chief; as citizens of British Columbia we welcome you as a fellow-citizen to whom we are proud to do honor; and as Canadians, we welcome you as a native son, deservedly honored by the confidence and esteem of the people of the province of your birth. We regard your withdrawal from the conference at Ottawa as the successful opening of a campaign which must eventually result in the triumph of justice and right, and we congratulate you, sir, most heartily on your mastery of the situation and your bold course of action.

The federal government has seen fit to ignore the pleadings of British Columbia for justice, and fair treatment as one of the partners in the scheme of federation. Instead of giving our case that consideration which its importance should command, the administration at Ottawa referred it to a committee composed of men naturally antagonistic to endorsing any proposal which might, in the slightest degree, affect the standing of their respective provinces. This reference of our case placed you in the position of a leader of a forlorn hope, so far as securing any substantial or permanent relief for the province, but you faced the situation bravely and unflinchingly, and single-handed, under the most adverse and dishonouring conditions, you held our rights and took a position which must convince all fair-minded men that British Columbia is no longer prepared to suffer in silence under disabilities imposed upon her by Ottawa.

In assuring you that we regard your action in retiring from the conference as an alternative left you in the face of the attitude assumed by a majority of its members—the only step compatible with your position as the representative of British Columbia, holding the dignity and honor, the vital interests and future independence of your province paramount to all other considerations—we feel that you are expressing the sentiment of every loyal British Columbian regardless of party, and we feel convinced, when the opportunity of the province will endorse the main course which you pursued.

Gross misrepresentation of your conduct and your motives, by a subsidized party press, fails to obscure the fact that you were offered a most inadequate sum for the absolute surrender of the rights of your native province, which you refused with righteous indignation, and to your own lasting honor and credit.

Assuring you, sir, of our confidence in you as premier of British Columbia, a confidence strengthened and renewed by your patriotic and honorable course in this grave crisis in the history of the province, we have the honor to subscribe ourselves on behalf of the Conservatives of Victoria, your devoted friends and supporters.

The Premier

Rising to respond to the address, the premier was greeted with prolonged cheers. He said:

"Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen.—It has not fallen to my lot since I have been connected with the politics of British Columbia to be the recipient on many occasions of addresses. It always seemed to be that wherever I was privileged to meet the people of the country, and especially the electorate, the addressing was done from my side. Tonight a most pleasant departure is my experience, and let me say at once, ladies and gentlemen, from the bottom of my heart I thank the Conservatives of Victoria who have so kindly paid me the compliment of giving me such a very excellent address. And I wish to express in my most hearty fashion my deep appreciation of what they have done for me. And I also wish to thank the people of Victoria, Liberals and Conservatives, boys and girls, ladies and gentlemen, for the very welcome home-coming they have given me tonight.

"When I came into the province of British Columbia not so many hours ago, at the little town of Laggan I found a delegation awaiting me from the Kootenay council, charged with delivering a message of welcome from Golden and Field, and inviting me to accept the hospitality of that section in the way of a banquet and other festivities. And then as I journeyed further along the line the same pleasurable experience was repeated at Revelstoke, Kamloops and Mission City, and then finally when I came to my own town of New Westminster another experience of a similar character was mine. And then again at the city of Vancouver my friends, and the people generally, seemed to be anxious to show me some appreciation of what I had attempted to do at Ottawa.

"Good Old Victoria"

"And now when I come to good old Victoria, the capital of British Columbia, I find here a good, kind and generous reception awaiting me. And I feel quite assured that this demonstration

The United States Cabinet Sees Chance For an Open Rupture With Japan

SURPLUS DISAPPOINTS MINISTER OF RAILWAYS

Amount Realized Is Away Below What Was Expected--Theatrical Competition

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 26.—At today's cabinet meeting among the important matters discussed was the situation growing out of the anti-American sentiment in Japan and the exclusion of Japanese children from the public schools of San Francisco. It was stated by a member of the cabinet after the meeting that the general opinion of the members was that the Japanese situation was exceedingly grave and would require the most delicate treatment to avoid an open rupture.

Japanese restaurant keepers as well as Japanese school children have suffered indignities in San Francisco, according to reports received by the Japanese ambassador from the Japanese consulate officials in that city.

At least seven or eight reports have been made concerning a boycott inaugurated against Japanese restaurants in the Pacific city.

Agents have been posted to prevent patrons from entering the restaurants and in several instances stones have been thrown and windows broken, according to the statements of Japanese officials. These cases have been brought to the attention of Secretary Root by Viscount Aoki, who says it is with great reluctance that he brings to the attention of the federal government demonstrations against the Japanese, which are purely local, and was much gratified at receiving despatches which showed that the Japanese are for the most part attempting to check the feeling against Americans.

Secretary Metcalf of the department of commerce and labor will go to San Francisco tomorrow to investigate and make a full report on the situation as affecting the Japanese trouble.

OTTAWA, ONT., Oct. 26.—(Special).—The expectations of the minister of railways that the surplus of receipts over working expenses of the government system of railways for the fiscal year just closed would be in the vicinity of $200,000 has not been realized. The actual surplus is officially announced as $56,890. This is a considerable improvement over the previous year, however, when the deficit was $1,355,262 while in 1904 it was $971,708.

The minister of inland revenue has reduced the price of methylated spirits to 80 cents a gallon.

In the amateur theatrical competition, to be held under vice-regal auspices, in Ottawa, commencing January 28 next, Winnipeg and Victoria will be the only western cities eligible to compete. Only one company can come from each city, and in the event of two or more applying the lieutenant-governor of the province is to decide which shall be allowed to compete. While the character of the entertainment, whether musical or theatrical, is left to the discretion of the company, each performance is limited to an hour and a half. The number of performers also is discretionary. But all must be strictly amateur. The entry list will close on November 30.

Letters patent have been issued incorporating Henry Roy of Ottawa, F. W. Rolt of Rossland and J. J. Fleut of Frank, and others as the Canadian Refining company, with a capital of $2,000,000 and headquarters at Ottawa.

B. Norman of Spokane is a visitor in the city and is registered at the Hotel Driard. Mr. Norman is a pioneer of the Pacific coast and this is not the first time he has visited Victoria, where he is well known both personally and by reputation to many a prominent citizen. His first visit to the city was as far back as 1881 and he has consequently some difficulty in recognizing many of the old-time features of the place. He expresses as much pleasure as surprise in noting the many changes that have taken place in the interim and has many complimentary things to say concerning the energy, taste and discretion with which the numerous extensions and improvements have been planned and effected. Mr. Norman is widely known on both sides of the line as the enterprising proprietor of the Hotel Spokane and will shortly be better known as the proprietor of the luxurious Hotel Tacoma, which he has recently acquired and put through a splendid course of renovation at a cost of some two hundred thousand dollars.

HIGH SCHOOL COMPLETES PRINCE ALBERT OUTRAGE

Ballot Box Stuffer Sinclair Relieved of Criminal Responsibility

Regina, Sask., Oct. 19.—The decision of the full court in the Prince Albert ballot box stuffing case was reached today. Judge Wetmore prepared the judgment, which is the conviction against the ballot box stuffer, James Sinclair. The full decision follows:

A suggestion was made at the hearing of this case that the learned judge should amend it by raising the question whether a common law offence had set out the charge. It seemed, however, that the counsel for the crown at the trial distinctly asserted that he did not rely upon a common law offence but placed his right to a conviction entirely under section 394 of the code. Under such circumstances the learned judge refused to make the suggested amendment and in my opinion was quite right in doing so because no question with respect to a common law offence could have been submitted to the jury. The first question to be decided is whether the charge with the particulars inclosed an offence under section 394 of the code. I am of the opinion that it does not. This section is found in part on 88 of the code, and that part, apart from some few sections which deal with marks on public stores and unlawful possession of arms, clothing, etc., from soldiers or seamen or the like, deals with matters of fraud.

Fine Hair-Splitting

Section 394 is the only one that deals with conspiracy to defraud. The other sections that deal with fraud deal with fraud of a character which deprives a person of his property or right of property; something of a commercial or a tangible character. No provision of a substantive character is made for punishment of a fraud such as is alleged to have been in the minds of the conspirators that parliament intended to make a conspiracy to defraud in the way suggested by the charge in this case, an offence, and make no provision for a substantive offence of that character.

I am of the opinion that the conspiracy to defraud contemplated by section 394 of the criminal code is not a fraud in the sense set out in the charge in this case, read with the light of the particulars set out in the stated case.

Some Rights Not Sacred.

The conspiracy contemplated by the section is not one to defraud a candidate of his hopes or expectations of being elected or the electors or the public of their hopes or expectations of having a certain candidate elected. The conspiracy intended is one to deprive or defraud the public or any person of certain substantial rights such as its or his property or means or something of a like character. Mr. Crankshaw in his work on the criminal code (2nd edition) at page 432 has set out a number of cases in which it has been held that the section applies and these cases illustrate, I think, very fairly what I intend to convey.

The Next Question to Split.

The next question for consideration is whether the charges in the light of the particulars constitute an offence under section 327 of the code. That section is as follows: "Every person is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to seven years imprisonment who in any case, not herein before provided for, conspires with any person to commit an indictable offence."

The matters with respect to which the accused is alleged to have conspired are: (1) To defraud Samuel James Doolan, a candidate at the said election, from being returned thereat as a member of the legislative assembly.

(2) To defraud the electors of the electoral division by illegally obtaining the return of Peter D. Tyreman as member of the said assembly.

(3) To defraud the public by procuring the return of said Peter D. Tyreman as such member.

Some Shady Excuses.

The question arises, are these matters with respect to which the conspiracy was had indictable offences? If they are it would seem to me that the charge would hold under the section of the code in question. If they are not it will not hold. It is very clear that these matters do not amount to a statutory offence. I cannot find any statute which creates such matters an indictable offence. Then are these matters indictable offences at common law. I have looked into this question also and I cannot find that they are.

BARS FOOTBALL.

New York, Oct. 26.—The Pratt Institute in Brooklyn has decided to drop football. Dr. Voorhees, physical instructor, said today: "We find that the game has been brutalized to such an extent that a player has to be practically a prizefighter to endure the knocks."

THE REAL CAUSE.

The Ancient Scalp-Fever Theory Exploded.

At one time dandruff was attributed to the result of a feverish condition of the scalp, which threw off the dried cuticle in scales.

Professor Unna, Hamburg, Germany, noted authority on skin diseases, exploded this theory and says that dandruff is a germ disease.

This germ is really responsible for the dandruff and for so many bald heads. It can be cured if it is gone about in the right way. The right way, of course, and the only way, is to kill the germ.

Newbro's Herpicide does this, and permits the hair to grow luxuriantly, just as nature intended it should. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Possibly the acts referred to in the particular named, granting three additional polling divisions subsequent to the issue of the returning officer's proclamation and prior to nomination day withholding notice of granting of the three polling divisions from the candidate, S. A. Donaldson, may be a contravention of the territorial election ordinance, and if so, it would be punishable under section 128 of that ordinance, but it would not be an indictable offence such as to bring it within the purview of section 527 of the code.

Plenty of Laws, But—

Section seven of the particulars is as follows: "Conspiring to falsely fill the poll books of the other three polling divisions the names of certain persons as having voted at the said three polling divisions without such persons having voted thereat."

It was alleged that this was an indictable offence under section 503 of the code. That section is as follows: "Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to seven years imprisonment who wilfully (a) destroys, injures or obliterates or causes to be destroyed, injured or obliterated; (b) makes, causes to be made, any erasure, addition of names or interlineation of names in or upon any writ of election or any declaration, poll book, voters list, certificate, affidavit or report, or any document, ballot or paper made, prepared or drawn out according to any law in regard to Dominion or provincial, municipal or civic elections."

No Hope for the Crown.

It seems to me that the furnishing of the particulars will not help the crown because the original charge is as I have already stated, namely, conspiring to defraud Donaldson, the electoral division and the public respectively; that the gravamen of the charge and that will not support a charge under section 503 for making or causing to be made an erasure or addition of names or interlineation of names in or upon a poll book. I am of the opinion that such particulars cannot be referred to for the purpose of bolstering a charge under that section. In order to make my meaning more clear I had better refer to the contention of the learned counsel for the crown. The particulars were furnished under paragraph 2 of section 616 of the code and section 617 provides as follows:

"When any such particulars as aforesaid is delivered, a copy should be given without charge to the accused or his solicitor, and it shall be entered in the record and the trial shall proceed in all respects as if the indictment had been amended in conformity with such particulars."

More Defence for Sinclair.

I was urged that the particulars so furnished by virtue of this provision became part of the charge. I am not of that opinion. They became part of the record for the purpose of this trial—that is, to limit the crown in so far as the charge stated in such particulars. The charge itself was not amended—the trial only proceeded as if it had been amended.

Assuming paragraph 7 of the particulars to contain a charge under section 503 of the code, and I am not clear that it does I am satisfied that such particulars could not be lifted up and incorporated in the original charge so as to make a charge under section 503 which was not necessarily embraced by the original normal charge as laid. I would very much like to see if it were done, how a warrant of commitment for enforcing any sentence of imprisonment under section 503 would be issued. I must confess that such a sentence has not been able to conceive for a warrant for that purpose could be made out under such circumstances.

Hesitates on This!

The question was raised whether the several counts of the charge are valid in form. In so far as the first two counts are concerned, because it is not alleged that the conspiracy was made by deceit, falsehood or other fraudulent means, and as to the third count, because the subject matter of the conspiracy was not one in which the general public as such were concerned or with respect to which they could be defrauded, I do not feel called upon to express a decided opinion upon these questions. In the English Standard, Hamilton's report at page 210, a charge was laid under section 147 of the code for making false solemn declaration. Though the charge omitted to allege that the false declaration was made "with intent to mislead," it was held that the omission of that allegation did not vitiate the charge. I think if the decision is binding upon this court as at present constituted, we must hold the charge in this case good so far as the question I am now discussing is concerned. I have already said I doubt whether that case was correctly decided in the respect mentioned and if I am not bound by that decision, I think I would be inclined to hold the charges in this case bad in form.

Relieves Sinclair Absolutely.

But I very much doubt whether it is open to the court to decide that question, because the learned trial judge informed me that no question of that sort was raised at the trial and certainly no such question was raised before this court at the first argument at Calgary. It was raised by the members of the court after argument. The second argument was directed for the purpose of discussing this question. Therefore, I cannot conceive that it was the intention of the trial judge to reserve any such question for the opinion of this court. It is true that the case as stated and the questions submitted are large enough to embrace the points in question, but this court has repeatedly held that it has no authority on the consideration of a stated case to decide any question not submitted by the case, and, as much as the learned judge never intended to submit the question, I very much doubt whether we should decide the points raised as to the form or validity of the charge. It is not, however, necessary to express any decided opinion upon the subject because I have come to the conclusion for the reasons previously stated in this judgment, that the conviction should be quashed.

St. Louis, Oct. 26.—A special to the Republic, Odlin, Ill., says: "The Bank of Odlin was looted by a gang of safe robbers early today. The report of the explosion attracted a crowd of citizens to the scene, and a number of houses in which more than 30 shots were fired. The bandits escaped with all their booty, the amount of which is not known. None of the citizens were hurt."

An Absolute Cure For DYSPEPSIA

Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Belching of gas after eating, mean weakness.

By means of its muscles, the stomach should churn the food—changing solids into liquids—mixing in the gastric juice to start digestion.

If the stomach is weak—then food is not properly churned and mixed with enough gastric juice. Then you have indigestion and then dyspepsia.

FRUIT-A-TIVES contain the elements that give new—vigor new energy—to the muscles lining the stomach—stimulate the digestive glands and assure a copious flow of gastric juice for each meal.

More than that, FRUIT-A-TIVES correct the Constipation which usually attends stomach trouble—and by acting directly on kidneys and liver, put the whole system in healthy condition.

STRIKE SPREADS.

New York, Oct. 26.—The strike of chauffeurs which began yesterday spread today to one of the company's substations; 30 of the 120 chauffeurs employed by the station joined the other 300. Thirty men remained at work, and they took out their cars each was accompanied by an officer in plain clothes.

CANNOT MOVE UTES.

Sioux City, Ia., Oct. 26.—United States troops have been hurriedly started from Fort Meade to relieve the soldiers at Fort Robinson who have surrounded the rebellious Utes, but cannot move them.

MANY CHILDREN SICK.

Get their feet wet, catch cold or cramps, and give mothers an anxious time. With the first shiver or sneeze rub the little one's chest with Nerviline, gargle the throat, and give ten drops in hot water at bed-time. Next morning all is well. No cold, no time lost at school. If Polson's Nerviline isn't in your home get it there at once. Dealers sell it in large 25c bottles.

BOLD ROBBER ARRESTED.

Berlin, Oct. 26.—The pretended captain of Gradinars of the Guard who on October 16 provided a forced order authorizing him to take command of a detachment of men whom he met on the streets in this city, and proceeded to Coepenick, a small town near here, where he arrested the burgo-master and the treasurer and took possession of the cash amounting to $1,000, turns out to have been a shoemaker of Tilsa named Voigt. He was arrested here today at his lodging place. Voigt although working at the trade of shoemaker, has committed a long series of felonies, principally robberies, by means of forged documents. He has served five terms in prison, finishing a 15-year sentence in February. He is nearly sixty years of age.

CITIZENS WELCOME PREMIER McBRIDE

tonight is a very true index indeed of the feeling which prevails generally throughout the province of British Columbia today. No man is more anxious than I to see that the question of better terms is made a big and broad question, and bigger than a party question, if such a thing is possible. The line of action that I have always pursued, whether in government or opposition, and I might say have tried to endorse and have endorsed in season and out of season, would point to that conclusion.

"During the session of the conference that has just ended down at Ottawa, I invariably tried to place myself on record with the other prime ministers, as being more than anxious that the question of better terms for the province of British Columbia should be removed from what might be called the 'partisan arena.' If I have not been successful in that endeavor, the fault is not mine, ladies and gentlemen.

"I am not here tonight to make that problem of Better Terms an issue of party lines. But I say again that I am more than anxious that it should be grappled with in a bigger and broader fashion if such were possible at all.

Conference at Ottawa

"Now, as to this conference down at Ottawa, I believe the press of the country has had a good deal to say in regard to it. And in speaking for a moment to the address that Mr. Beckwith has been so kind to read to me, let me take up the last section which deals with the press of Victoria—the press of British Columbia which takes upon itself the responsibility of being my critic. First I will take the Victoria Times. Now, I have always considered your evening paper, the Victoria Times, to be one of my best friends. Why, since I have come into politics ten years ago, the Victoria Times has been at me, and it has been going to its publication time. But it appears to me that in the end I have pretty nearly won out all the time. Ladies and gentlemen, nothing has helped me more in the public work I have carried on in the province of British Columbia than the mean and unfair criticisms which have been raised against me from time to time by the Victoria Times.

"Now, I feel that I owe you an apology when I take up your time for one second in discussing the Victoria Times. But since reference was made in an inconsiderate way only due to the fact that I should make the observation I have just made. With regard to the Vancouver World, the other champion of your rights, I do not know but what pretty near the same remarks would apply. All I would say for the editor is 'Poor Mr. Higgins, we are all sorry for him.' (Laughter.) And with regard to the up-country press which seems to take pretty nearly the same line of action, I cannot say very much more. There you have my old friend Mr. Dean, a disgruntled politician, and a non-successful candidate in the last election. They are all there in strong array—Men on the opposition, and I think they will be bound to stay there for a good long time to come.

"I believe all manner of charges have been levelled against me, and that those critics have been very emphatic in giving those charges publicity. Well, ladies and gentlemen, you must judge for yourselves. The time is not far distant when the present government will again come down to the people for endorsement. If we are successful, we of course will appreciate the confidence of the public, and we will continue to carry on the government of this country in that same satisfactory fashion that this province has enjoyed in the past—well, pretty nearly three and a half years. In other words, if you are consigned to the tender mercies of the other side I am afraid I shall have to ask you to place no responsibility on me for what might happen. (Laughter.)

Better Terms

"Now, with regard to the question of better terms, as you well know, I went to Ottawa alone. I found, however, when I reached the capital city of the Dominion that the other prime ministers of the other provinces were not alone, but that some were accompanied by one and some by two colleagues, who were expected to take some active part in our deliberations. "Had it not been that the case of British Columbia was especially an important one, particularly to ourselves—and then, again, to some of our warm sympathizers in the eastern part of Canada—perhaps the conference would have ended in a one-day's session. I found that everything was made ready there to put through the Quebec resolution, have a good time and then go home. But British Columbia was not to be forgotten in that resolution. Now, it is quite true, Mr. Chairman, that we did have to make a hard and strenuous fight there to secure recognition. I found myself in an assembly composed of six Liberal premiers and three Conservatives. The three Conservative premiers came from the province of Ontario, the province of Manitoba and the province of British Columbia—the three provinces that made the surplus in the federal treasury. I found that the other six came from New Brunswick,

Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, the two new provinces and Quebec. And I found in the course of our deliberations when anything savored of a criticism of the conduct of the federal authorities, the views of these six men seemed to pretty nearly fall in line, while the views of the other three at times were not better. Mr. Laurier, it seemed to be a remarkable coincidence, but I thought afterwards that possibly the very near proximity of the federal cabinet had something to do with the situation.

The First Business

"Now, those of you who have followed the proceedings of this federal conference, will have observed that our first business was a resolution, adopted unanimously, which endorsed the Quebec province, with this reservation—that provinces who claimed to have special claims were charged to present them now, and were given the right to do so when we were to meet again with Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues. Well, that meeting took place. The resolution was presented by Mr. Whitney and Mr. Gouin. And then the time came to present the case of British Columbia.

"You who have followed our case at all know well just what that amounted to. You all know how we have tried to emphasize, and fairly so, too, the physical conditions of British Columbia, which in themselves afford ample justification for the treatment we were asking at the hands of Canada. And I may say that I tried to bring out clearly and strongly these different points to which I have just referred, and with the very gratifying result that when I had finished my address Sir Wilfrid Laurier said without secret he was of the opinion that British Columbia was entitled to special recognition.

"But, however, the end was not yet. There was not that unanimity that the federal authorities were looking for, and we had to go back into conference again. This was on Tuesday morning, and all I need say here was that from that Tuesday until Saturday afternoon, when I withdrew from the conference, mainly the business that was under discussion was respecting the special demands of the people of the province of British Columbia on the federal treasury.

Fair Treatment Refused

"Now, ladies and gentlemen, I found it very hard indeed to get what I considered to be fair treatment for our province. My friend, Mr. Peters, of Prince Edward Island, was one of the gentlemen charged with passing judgment on the province of British Columbia, and he seemed to have very little conception of what the province of British Columbia was like. I used to tell my friend, Mr. Peters, that we could take his little province, and hide it away on one of our small districts here. For as you know Prince Edward Island is only about one hundred and sixty-fifth the size of British Columbia, and I forget how much larger we are than New Brunswick and Nova Scotia put together.

"But I cannot help telling you right here and now that what struck me throughout the whole conference—and especially in connection with the province of Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia—was the keenness displayed on the part of the prime ministers of those provinces to get their extras under the Quebec conference and get back home, because I found out that my good friend, Mr. Peters, was to get some $70,000; Mr. Tweedie some $200,000; Mr. Murray some $200,000; and my friend Mr. Gouin was to get some $300,000 over and above what they were to get under the terms of the federation—a very nice sum for those provinces, especially for the Maritime provinces, where we notice with some regret that there has not been that progress and prosperity which has so marked the Western part of Canada; and which has spread more or less throughout the entire Dominion.

Premier Peters Modesty

"And I found, too, that the province for which my good friend Mr. Peters was securing the additional grant of $70,000 was for a province that had today a smaller population than when it came into federation some years ago. And I also found out that this same gentleman, Mr. Peters, only a few months ago had been so fortunate as to secure an appropriation of a perpetuity of $30,000 a year, because it was claimed that some small arrangements between the federal and colonial governments across the Straits of Northumberland had not been carried out. So you can see that my friend Mr. Peters with his little province (some 1,650 the size of British Columbia) was not coming out half badly. One hundred and five thousand dollars a year. No wonder he was very anxious to settle up the work of the conference and pack his little trunk and go away down home again.

"And I found with regard to Mr. Tweedie, he expected to go away with the comfortable sum of $200,000 a year. No wonder he was very anxious to settle up the work of the conference and pack his little trunk and go away down home again.

"And when we came to Quebec, those who were studying the situation found that there was a keenness on the part of Mr. Gouin to get his $300,000. I might say here that had it not been for the persistence with which Mr. Gouin has followed up this question of better terms, we would not have had this conference at all. For while down in Quebec I tried to make myself familiar with the conditions generally, and I found that this gentleman has been giving Sir Wilfrid Laurier a great deal of worry, and he was very much concerned with the condition of affairs in his own province.

A "Hurry Up" Programme
"Now, all these four gentlemen to whom I have just referred were very anxious to get away from that conference with these very handsome annual contributions to their treasury. Then when we came along to Ontario we found some indifference there on the part of the conference. At the same time, having endorsed the Quebec resolutions, we found that Mr. Whitney and his colleagues, so far as they consistently could, were anxious to make the work of the conference a success.

"Then we came to Mr. Roblin, premier of Manitoba, who is a splendid sample of a Canadian man. He was one of our strong men championing the position taken at the Quebec conference, and was anxious for better terms.

"Then when we came to the two new provinces, those provinces which have been so handsomely and generously treated by the federal government, while we found them now very eager or anxious about special terms, they were very anxious to see that their votes were on record whenever there was a division of conference. Those are Liberals—Mr. Scott and Mr. Rutherford.

"Then we came to the province of British Columbia—a province with special conditions, and with the right to demand special recognition. (Cries of hear, hear.) And as I say, ladies and gentlemen, I did not spare myself in trying to make our case as strong and as clear as circumstances would permit when I was given the opportunity of presenting it to the federal prime minister and his colleagues. On that occasion Mr. Lemieux, Mr. Fielding and the minister of justice, Mr. Aylesworth, were present. Now, let me say again the general opinion of all the local prime ministers, and of the federal prime minister was that we were entitled to special recognition. I, as once again, with the right to demand special recognition, have been all along contending for by the different local administrations that have taken up this question of better terms, insisted upon anything that might be done being done through the agency of a board of arbitrators. I said that those who were most expert in the matter should be the judges, and had concluded that the only way that the interests of British Columbia might be conserved and justice done all parties concerned would be by proper reference of this question to a board of arbitrators. This board to consist of one arbitrator selected from the local, one from the federal, and one from the imperial governments, so that you see they would have a most

RECEPTION TO MR. McBRIDE.

The Hon. Mr. McBride has every reason to feel gratified at the reception he received last night at the hands of the people of Victoria. It showed that there is a general feeling of admiration of the manner in which he stood up for the rights of the province under exceptionally difficult circumstances at Ottawa.

But while the reception was significant and complimentary, it was not nearly as important from a public point of view as his remarks in reply to the address presented to him at the public meeting. Mr. McBride deserves much praise for a dispassionate, clear, concise and forceful statement of his mission and its result. He made not the slightest effort to catch the applause of a friendly audience, although he received a great deal. His attitude throughout was eminently correct, and becoming to the representative minister of a great province, which has been seeking justice, only to have it denied. He was perfectly fair to those whose conduct he felt obliged to criticize. He was kindly in his personal allusions. He was moderate in his description of his own line of action. He was modest in his reference to himself. We congratulate him very heartily upon his speech, and we still more congratulate the province that it has in its first Minister a gentleman, who is so completely the master of the greatest question now before the people, and who has shown himself able to discuss it in a calm and judicial manner, without importing into it anything that is calculated to divert public attention from it. Mr. McBride's position will be sustained by the people of British Columbia, independently of politics.

Speaking again of the reception accorded him, he most thoroughly deserved it. He went to Ottawa to press the exceptional claims of this province. He has succeeded in having them recognized by the Premier and Finance Minister of Canada and conceded by the premiers of all the provinces in Canada. This was worth going for. It leaves the way clear for British Columbia to secure everything to which she is reasonably entitled, and she asks nothing more. This deserved a popular demonstration of approval. The Colonist joins its welcome to that of the citizens of Victoria, and desires to assure Mr. McBride that, as far as it is able to judge, his course will receive the endorsement of the people of British Columbia as no act of any public man in many years has received it.

EXPLANATORY.

Yesterday the Colonist explained that, owing to the incomplete reports received both by it and the Times from the provincial conference, at the close thereof, it was impossible at the time to understand just what had been done; and as it had since received the official synopsis of the proceedings, as published in the Eastern press, it was necessary to correct some of the observations made in previous issues. To our way of thinking this is the only honest course for a newspaper to adopt. We could continue day after day to repeat what is not true, as our esteemed contemporary has done, although its statements have been denied by the highest possible authority, but we prefer at all times to be absolutely frank with our readers, and if we have been misinformed as to any state of facts to make the promptest correction. From the first despatches received from Ottawa, it seemed that the proposal made by the conference involved no increase for British Columbia beyond the additional $145,000 for cost of legislation and administration, and we commented thereon accordingly. Replying to our comment the Times said that this additional $145,000 was given to us to remedy the inequality of the original arrangement, whereby we would after a time have an expanding population and a stationary revenue so far as the contributions from the federal exchequer go. It stated that this new arrangement was in lieu of the 80 cents per capita. Two days after this comment appeared, we pointed out to the Times the error into which it had fallen; but it did not think it worth while to make any correction at the time, nor has it made any since. Its mistake was not wholly inexcusable, for like the Colonist, it had not been put in possession of the facts of the case. Neither the Times nor the Colonist knew accurately what had occurred at the conference until last Monday, and we were not alone in our ignorance, for perusal of the Winnipeg papers, of dates within a few days of the close of the conference, show that they were also very much in the dark. As soon as the full official report came to hand, it was printed in the Colonist, but we have not yet observed it in the Times. Promptly thereafter, the Colonist examined its observations on the conference to see in what respect they ought to be altered in the light of the official report of the proceedings, and having discovered that there was one point in regard to which a change ought to be made, it yesterday made the correction. This it did by printing the resolution of 1902, which was urged upon the government by the recent conference. The Times reprints this resolution, and thus, by reason of the honesty of the Colonist in at once rectifying an error into which it had been led by imperfect telegrams, it gave its readers for the first time a statement of what the conference really recommended. Previous to Monday last, the Colonist thought that the conference had not recommended any change in the per capita subsidies, and the Times was under the impression that the conference had recommended their abolition, and the substitution thereof of subsidies that could never exceed $240,000 a year. We venture to say that our contemporary would not have discovered that we were mistaken if we had not ourselves said so. The Colonist makes no claim to infallibility, but it does claim to be honest.

If the Colonist had known earlier what it learned when it read the official summary, its observations would hardly have been as temperate as they were. If it had known that the Province of Ontario, for example, was to receive every year hereafter, provided the recommendations of the conference are acted on, more additional revenue from the Dominion than the conference proposed to give British Columbia altogether in consideration of the exceptional nature of the problems with which it has to deal, and that Quebec was to receive nearly as much every year, we fear that it would have been difficult to have treated the case without exceedingly strong expressions of indignation. If Mr. McBride was justified in withdrawing from the conference on the state of facts as presented in the telegrams, and nearly everyone, Liberals as well as Conservatives, admitted that he was, he was ten-fold more justified by the actual conditions under which his withdrawal took place.

THE PUBLIC POINT OF VIEW.

The London Morning Post, referring in a recent issue to the defeat of the Balfour government, said that it was due to the fact that Mr. Balfour and his colleagues "had lost the public point of view." The expression is a good one. A government, if it would retain the confidence of the people, must meet the views of the people. It must take note of the drift of public sentiment, and shape its policy accordingly. To say this is not to suggest that a government ought to be time-serving. It is simply a recognition of the fact that the people of a country, enjoying representative institutions, ought to be the real rulers of it. Occasionally a man of transcendent talents arises who can shape public opinion to suit his views; occasionally some one discovers a line of policy which attracts popular support; but in the main the successful ministries are those which follow, rather than attempt to lead, public opinion. The most conspicuous illustration of the value of catching the trend of public thought, afforded by the history of Canada, was the victory of Sir John Macdonald in 1888. Mr. Mackenzie had, to use the language of the Post, "lost the public point of view." The Laurier ministry at the last general election held it. The details of that ministry's policy might be, and undoubtedly were, open to the strongest criticism, but the ministry stood for what the people were looking for, and hence were successful. These two instances are especially interesting, because in the first it was the leader of the opposition, who possessed himself of the public point of view, and in the second case the leader of the government.

THE WATER BY-LAW.

Very little is being said in the newspapers about the water by-law upon which the ratepayers are to vote on November 5th. The money raised is to be expended in extending the 24-inch main to the lake; in improving the distribution system; in erecting a reservoir somewhere between St. Charles street and Rockland avenue; in cleaning the lake, and in ascertaining the collectible water in the Highland district. The amount which the ratepayers are asked to authorize the city council to borrow is $300,000; the rate of interest is to be 4 per cent, and the debentures are to be a charge upon the land and improvements within the city. So far as cleaning the lake and ascertaining the value of the Highland district as a source of supply go, there will hardly be any difference of opinion among the ratepayers. There will be very little objection to the erection of the reservoir or tank on the high land in the eastern part of the city. The distribution system needs improvement. When it comes, however, to the expenditure of the large sum necessary to extend the 24-inch main to the lake, we are on exceedingly debatable ground. Until it is decided that we shall continue to look to Elk lake for our water supply, such an outlay would seem to be exceedingly unwise. We know very little about the Highland district as yet. Possibly the city can get so much water there that it will be inadvisable to contemplate any improvements upon the pipe line to Elk lake. If the proposed new supply shall be found to be ample, and if it can be stored at an altitude sufficient to give ample force by gravity alone to serve the needs of the city, it would seem to be folly to contemplate turning any of the water into Elk lake. Conceding that it will be found desirable to resort to the Highland district, we hardly think any one is in a position to say whether or not the supply from that source will be independent of the Elk lake supply. If it will be, why go to the needless expense of laying a 24-inch main to the lake? If the Highland area will not furnish us with enough water for many years to come under a gravity pressure, if the idea is to gather water there to supplement what we get from Elk lake, it occurs to us that we had better leave it alone. But we are wholly in sympathy with the idea of finding out what the Highland district is forth as a source of supply.

has, first and last, paid a good deal of money for expert opinions, and has had the benefit of other opinions that were not those of experts, although perhaps not any the less valuable on that account. The opinion of any reasonable man is useful, if he gives the public the facts from which they can determine for themselves as to the validity of his conclusions. The suggestion that we should go to the Highlands for our water is comparatively recent. It does not appear to have occurred to any of the high-priced gentlemen who have reported upon our water supply, nor to those citizens who have given the subject attention during the last quarter of a century. If ratepayers hesitate about believing that wisdom in these things was born at the last mayoralty election, there need be no surprise. A few days ago T. W. Paterson astonished our municipal authorities by pointing out something which, although under their noses, so to speak, for the last score of years, does not appear to have been observed. There may be some other surprises awaiting disclosure. Let us therefore wait a little longer before we put any money into the Elk lake main. When we know all about the Highland supply, it may be quite unnecessary to expend another dollar at the lake, except for the purpose of cleaning it, and a money by-law will hardly be needed for that purpose.

THE GREAT QUESTION.

It seems hardly right to call the better terms question an issue in provincial politics. An issue implies two sides—one asserting a proposition and the other denying it. We are all of one mind as to our claims on the Dominion. There may be differences of opinion as to what would be the best way in which they could be met; but there is absolutely none as to their importance, the nature of the conditions out of which they arise, or the failure of the federal government and the provincial premiers to recognize the justice of what we ask. It has so happened that, when the opportunity arrived for the presentation of our case, in connection with a general plan of readjustment, a Conservative government was in power here and a Liberal government at Ottawa; but neither of these facts in any way affects its merits, nor ought they to have the slightest influence upon the action of the province in the emergency which has arisen. The provincial government will ask the people of the province not simply to sustain the policy of the Conservative party on this point, but to reassert the policy upon which the people of British Columbia have hitherto been unanimous. It falls to the lot of the administration of Hon. Mr. McBride to defend the cause of the province. If for that reason the provincial opposition consider themselves forced to assume an attitude hostile to that taken by the government, if they think that they are bound at all cost to support the position taken by the Liberal ministry at Ottawa and the inter-provincial conference, a majority of the menbers of which were Liberals, simply because they also are Liberals, and thereby go contrary to their own record in the House and antagonize the universal opinion of the province, they are of course free to do so. Indeed, so far as the newspapers supporting them can place them in that attitude, they have already done so. If ever a great political opportunity was missed by a party, it has been missed by the Liberal opposition in provincial politics. After the scandalous abuse that has been showered upon Mr. McBride, after the quotation with approval of extracts from Eastern newspapers, opposed to the claims of the province, after the absolute refusal of the Liberal press to support Mr. McBride in his mission to Ottawa, the provincial opposition will be regarded throughout Canada as opposed to the recognition of the claims of the province as presented by all the administrations since 1900 and as affirmed by the legislature in 1905.

Our evening contemporary says that the only redeeming feature of this paper is its frankness. We should be glad to return the compliment, if we could do so consistently with that quality which our friend so much admires.

For a good many centuries China slumbered. Europe was not content until she had awakened the sleeping giant. While he was awakening he looked very stupid, like most people do under such circumstances. He does not look so now, with a modern army, equipped with up-to-date material. Perhaps it might have been wiser to have let him stay asleep.

A railway or any other public work may be of great advantage to the country, and yet the plan adopted to secure it may be open to criticism. The Liberals very stoutly opposed the terms of the contract with the Canadian Pacific railway for the construction of that line, but none of them has ever said that the railway is not a very excellent thing for the country. The Conservatives opposed the government plan for building the Grand Trunk Pacific, but they never alleged that a new transcontinental railway would not promote the development of the Dominion.

QUALITY BETTER THAN QUANTITY.

The evil effects of indiscriminate immigration have been too apparent in the United States, and our neighbors are now endeavoring to cope with the situation. In Canada we have still the opportunity of checking the evil and preventing its spreading to the moral and physical detriment of the nation. Bigness is not the greatest desideratum in a nation, and if we can only increase our population rapidly by an desirable immigration, it will be far better to postpone settlement for a generation rather than let the national standard be injured and deteriorated by the influx of such people.—News-Advertiser.

A Crook Sentenced.—Some little time back a man passing under the name of Grant victimized many of Victoria's citizens in various ways. His nefarious attentions were directed chiefly to hotels and curio stores. Of the former several were sufferers and some Japanese and other curio stores knew him to their sorrow. The police have been trying for some time to locate this gentleman either in Montreal or New York, but without success. It is now rumored, however, that a man just sentenced at Seattle to the years imprisonment for similar offenses is identical with the one wanted on the aforesaid charges.

Good Horsemanship.—Sanitary Inspector Wilson gave a good exhibition of horsemanship yesterday afternoon on Government street. He was driving a rather spirited horse, which became frightened at an automobile, and attempted to run away. The horse started towards the post office and despite the desperate efforts of Mr. Wilson it was not under control till Courtney street was reached. The passage from Bastion street to the stopping place was done in remarkably short time and had it not been that Mr. Wilson was a good driver, he would have surely met with serious mishap.

Sunday School Convention.—The largest meeting of Sunday school workers ever convened in this part of Canada will be opened in the Calvary Baptist church on the evening of November 7, and will close with a "grand rally" the following night. Rev. W. T. Merrill of Tacoma, field worker for the Northwest States, British Columbia, Alberta and the Northwest Territories, will be present to deliver special addresses and to discuss matters vital to the future of Sunday school work in British Columbia. An excellent programme covering four sessions has been prepared, which includes "denominational conferences" under the direction of Dr. Campbell, Presbyterian; Rev. H. Carson, Congregationalist; Rev. Le Roy Taylor, Baptist, and Rev. Mr. Davidson, Methodist. A pressing invitation is extended to Christians of every denomination to take an interest in this "forward movement."

Scotch Concert.—The Grand Hallowsen Scotch Concert is advertised to take place on Monday evening, October 29th, in the First Presbyterian church hall, Blanchard Street. As this annual event has in past years been brimful of interest and enjoyment it is in fact always looked forward to as being one of the events of the season, and from representations this season's concert will in no way fall short of any of its predecessors.

New Westminster, B. C., Oct. 26.—(Special).—Thomas Healy, night watchman at the B. C. E. R. powerhouse at Burnaby, was instantly killed about 11:45 last night by the New Westminster car coming from Vancouver.

Healy was lying on the track and the car passed completely over him crushing his head and breaking many of his ribs and other bones. He was seen earlier in the evening in an intoxicated condition and was known to be addicted to drink. He was 42 years of age, single and a native of Ireland.

CITIZENS WELCOME PREMIER McBRIDE

should be thoroughly gone into, and in his opinion Premier McBride had taken the only course open to him. He agreed with the statement of the premier that he did not go to Ottawa "with his hat in his hand," but all that was wanted was rights of the province. He denied the right of the House of Commons to promise Mr. McBride a better arrangement if he returned to the conference, and he was pleased that Mr. McBride had properly turned down the offer, and refused the mean move made by Mr. Fielding. He could only sum it up as an attempt to try his apprentice hand on a British Columbian without a knowledge of British Columbia born statesmen.

His knowledge of the claim for better terms he said was somewhat limited, but since he had resided in British Columbia he had seen the efforts of successive premiers in their attempt to secure a measure of justice. It was absurd that the claim of British Columbia should be submitted to a conference of men who had never been to British Columbia and did not know what was required; and he was surprised that this attempt should have been made by the Federal representatives. If a person had to be a conservative to approve of the conduct of Premier McBride he would have to bow to the vote for he certainly approved of the course taken by him at Ottawa. Until the visit of Mr. McBride the Easterners had never been shown the manner of men that are at the head of affairs in British Columbia; and it was former representatives' custom to speak of British Columbia in a whisper, take what was offered and then take their bags and hurry back home, but now it was different. When it was clearly shown that it was not the intention of the conference to grant any of the claims of Premier McBride, the latter adopted the only course open to him, and withdrew from the conference. As a British Columbian he was proud of the stand that had been taken by Premier McBride. The claims of British Columbia were pure, hard facts, and they would have to be thoroughly investigated; and if the Federal government did not do it there was still one course open—which was to take it to the highest tribunal in the land where they were sure of obtaining British fair play. (Applause.)

W. Blakemore

W. Blakemore was then called on. He did not intend to take up much time and would not try to explain the question of better terms. He congratulated Mr. McBride on his able address and said that it had been clearly shown that big questions should be handled by big men. He took it on himself to say from the address made by the premier and the stand he had taken at Ottawa, he had shown he was big enough to take care of any question for British Columbia.

He was of the opinion that the claim for better terms was a question that should be taken up by every person in British Columbia, whether Liberal or Conservative, and should be fought for the betterment of the province. He was glad that Mr. McBride had returned without the "mess of pottage" and he thought that British Columbia was rich enough to take the stand that if she could not get her due she did not want anything.

He urged the people to prepare themselves for the fight that would soon result from the question of better terms. All British Columbia wanted was her rights and nothing more. And if they could not get it at Ottawa, they could go where British fair play is always given.

D. M. Eberts

D. M. Eberts was then called on by the audience, and Chairman Beckwith stated that Mr. Eberts had not come prepared to speak, but even so, he would call on him to address the meeting. Mr. Eberts in opening his remarks said he had no idea that he was to be called on and was not in order to speak as he had not yet had any dinner, as he had missed dinner rather than miss the reception to Premier McBride. He was rather weak, but for all that he was very proud of "Dick" McBride, and was very much gratified at the stand he had taken.

He pointed out that he had been a colleague with Mr. McBride and had known full well that he would deal with the question at Ottawa in the proper manner. It was absurd for the federal government to offer the more pittance that they had. When the offer was figured out it would be seen that the total was ridiculously low. The Dominion of Canada had taken $12,000,000 from British Columbia, but even so, he was proud of the stand that he had taken. The Dominion of Canada had taken $12,000,000 from British Columbia, but even so, he was proud of the stand that he had taken. The Dominion of Canada had taken $12,000,000 from British Columbia, but even so, he was proud of the stand that he had taken.

British Columbia gets $200,000 from the federal government annually, but in return the Dominion government has a large tract of land in the Peace River district and the provincial government has also constructed many miles of railways for which no federal return has been made. If the federal government would drop their claims on the land in the Peace River district it might be something, but even this had not been done. If something were not done the taxes of British Columbia would increase till the residents of the province would be unable to stand it.

He pointed out that in Quebec and the Maritime provinces the Dominion government had expended much money, while in British Columbia a wharf has been built at Hardy bay, another at Ladysmith and a breakwater at Sidney. If the people of British Columbia accepted the paltry sum that is offered they were a different class than he took them for.

"If we cannot get justice at Ottawa we can at London and we will get it."

A voice—"Justice or separation."

Mr. Eberts—"I am not in accord with that. What we want to do is to fight like Britishers and fight till we get our rights, and do not quit till we do get them."

He again complimented Mr. McBride on the stand he had taken and congratulated the people of British Columbia that they had a premier who is not afraid of his convictions. (Applause.)

This brought the speech-making to a close; and after singing the National Anthem and with cheers for the King, Hon. R. L. Borden and Premier McBride, the meeting adjourned.

an automobile you would want the latest improved style, or as near as you could get to it for the money you had to spend.

When offered a cheaply got up car, you would say: "I am afraid it will be too noisy and it won't ride comfortably."

You would want smoothness and noiselessness in an auto. Why don't you seek it also in your carriage? To improve it you have only to put on Dunlop Solid Rubber Tires. They will make riding more comfortable—add to the good appearance of your equipage—will stand any amount of wear on ordinary roads—will cost nothing in the end, because they pay for their cost in the wear and tear they save your rig.

You can't put Dunlop pneumatic tires on a carriage, but you can put on Dunlop Solid Rubber Tires, and they are the next best thing.

Everything in Dunlop rubber is made to preserve the credit of the name and of this trade mark.

WESTERN CANADA'S BIG STORE

MARVELLOUS SHOWING AND EXPOSITION OF DRESS FABRICS

Cloth and Cashmere, Hand Embroidered, in Black and White, Brown, Blue and Green.

A wonderful procession of fabrics from the farthest centres of the world has been flooding our Dress Goods Department with rare and beautiful things. That Fashion has eliminated any eccentricity in design or weaves for this season's robes and evening toilettes, is most assuredly true. "Exclusiveness and distinction," the hall mark of Victorian shoppers, is plainly seen in our display of hand embroidered dress fabrics but lately unpacked, and on view in our window. To our thinking, the beauty and variety of coloring exceed anything we have before shown. And to this richness is given by the hand embroidery.

Some Very Special Values Are Offered at From $10 to $12.50.

The New Dress Trimmings

No one can make novelties like Paris, the creator. Therefore, you can find quantities of French trimmings here, as well as a great assembly of Germany's painstaking work—which frequently copies the French. That they are the newest to be found you may depend upon.

That they are practical as well as beautiful we would like you to see for yourself.
Braids and all other sorts of dress trimming are to be employed so extensively this season on every kind of frock, tailor-made or otherwise, that no one interested in clothes can afford to miss this chance of seeing so many kinds thrown open for every one's eyes.

Prices range from the most modest braid at 3c a yard to elaborate novelties at $15.

New Raincoats for Women

Rain and fine feathers is a combination too incongruous to meet the approval of sensible Victorians.

The good plain English tailored coats made for service are what women are taking to most this year. Some of these have a circular effect and look as if they were made on round yokes, others are somewhat fitted in the back.

The high, close, necks, with sensible storm collars keep the rain drops from trickling down the neck. These ideas are borrowed from automobile coats.

The new material, known as "Hiptovette," has superseded the Cravenette of past seasons. This fabric is stronger, slightly heavier, keeps its shape better, and more thoroughly waterproof than anything before seen.

The colorings most in vogue are Fawn, Light Grey, and Oxford Grey. Our offerings are all new and almost exclusively of this material. Perfectly plain coats, mannish cut, full sleeves, turned back cuffs, wide storm collar, double breasted, 1 7/8 lengths, $20.00.

Loose Fronted Coats, semi-fitting backs, on circular yoke, extra full sleeves, storm collar, 7-8 length, $20.00.

The Bias Jacket Coats, loose fronts, trimmed with stitched strapping, full straight sleeves, 7-8 length, $17.50.

Tight body fitting coats, back and front, trimmed with stitched strapping, roll collar, breast pockets, 7-8 length, $20.00.

In less expensive coats, though equal in every other respect, we suggest: The Empire Yoke Rain Coat, a dressy garment, cut single breasted, sleeves shirred at the shoulder, velvet collar, very large pockets, full length, $12.50.

A Plain Double Breasted Coat, full sleeves, turned back cuffs, storm collar 7-8 length, $12.50.

A very choice selection of Inverness Coats, plain and ornamental, full length to 60 inches, $15.00.
